NORMAN DAY JOINS LEXSTONE LAWYERS

Norman Day, an English solicitor, who previously worked in the finance and corporate teams of several Jersey law firms including Ogier, has joined Lexstone Lawyers as a consultant.

He has a broad practice, acting for financial institutions in financing transactions as well as advising local Jersey intermediaries and other service providers.

Marcus Stone commented: -

"We are absolutely delighted that Norman has joined us. I have previously worked with him and on the other side of transactions. He has a wealth of experience in corporate and finance transactions and has been involved in some of the largest finance transactions in Jersey."

The corporate finance team of Lexstone Lawyers has acted in several significant banking matters over the last twelve months including financing of commercial property, infrastructure and financial service businesses.

Norman is the ninth qualified lawyer to join Lexstone Lawyers since it was established in December 2015. Its lawyers include lawyers qualified in Jersey, Guernsey, Poland, Panama, Scotland and England and Wales.
