PROMINENT PROPERTY LAWYER & CONVEYANCER JOIN LEXSTONE LAWYERS

Lexstone Lawyers is thrilled to announce the strengthening of its property practice with the full-time appointments of Advocate Peter Bertram and Shaun O'Connor.

Peter began his career in Jersey property law in 1980 with Le Masurier, Gifford & Poch, which merged with Ogier & Le Cornu in 1995 (now Ogier). He retired as a partner of Ogier in 2013. Following a stint in the UK, Peter returned to Jersey and has since provided consultancy work for various local law firms. Peter joined Lexstone as a consultant in 2023. He now hopes to contribute to reforming the island's property title registration system, which is under severe pressure due to a chronic lack of skilled and experienced conveyancing practitioners.

Shaun has been immersed in Jersey conveyancing and property law since 1982. He has worked at several significant law firms in Jersey and has a stellar reputation as a go-to conveyancer on the island. The Royal Court of Jersey has appointed him as a local property expert in matters of dispute before the court.

Advocate Marcus Stone, Senior Group Partner of Lexstone Lawyers Group, remarked: "We are extremely fortunate to have both Peter and Shaun join our team. They will now establish one of the strongest property teams on the island, with the objective of providing our existing clients and new clients with the best service and advice possible."

Mrs. Lucy Egerton-Vernon, Managing Group Partner of Lexstone Lawyers Group, commented: "The hiring of Peter and Shaun enhances our property teams and elevates us to the top tier of law firms operating in this space. Since establishing Lexstone Lawyers in December 2015, we have acted on some of the most prominent property transactions on the island, including for the developer of the flagship development One St Brelade."
